

BSUPI Advisory Board Member Wins Prestigious Award

THE NONPROFIT TIMES
The Leading Business Publication For Nonprofit Management

2025 POWER AND INFLUENCE TOP 50

“Incubating and leading social justice, social innovation, and business initiatives for emerging and underserved markets and communities is nothing new for Evans-Page. She is shifting the traditional power dynamics in philanthropy via collaboration between what she calls “doers and donors.” Evans-Page is a thought leader who supports others and never forgets community impact.”

As a member of the BSUPI Advisory Board, Janiece Evans-Page has been a major supporter of our Philanthropy mission. She was the catalyst behind the launch of BSU’s Philanthropy Fellowship Program in 2022 and has since invested $1.2 M to host 10 BSU College of Business graduate students. Four of those students are currently employed in executive positions at the TIDES Network. We are truly grateful to Janiece Evans-Page for her commitment to our work and to the professional development of our students. We salute her in her achievements and in winning this prestigious award.
