PRESIDENT HENRY GUEST EDITORIAL BY LOYALTY

"Good Americans are loyal. If our America is to become ever greater and better, her citizens must be loyal, devotedly faithful in every relation to life, full of courage and regardful of their honor."

This statement is called the Law of Loyalty. It is taken from The Children's Morality Code. Often we think of loyalty in relation to our country. We say that we are "loyal Americans" because we are thoroughly devoted to the cause of America—to the American way of life. In other words, we are patriotic. This is not enough. To be good Americans we must be loyal in every relation of life, not only to our country, but to our school, our friends, our home, and ourselves.

Loyalty to our school means pride in our institutions, respect for our teachers and school officials, careful use of school property and buildings, and observance of all regulations. It includes not only conduct at school, but also conduct away from school which will not reflect discredit upon the school.

Loyalty to our friends involves consideration of others, courtesy and kindness at all times, and understanding and sympathy when it is needed.

Loyalty to our homes means that we respect our parents and their decisions. We think in terms of the family rather than only of ourselves.

Loyalty to ourselves means loyalty to our standards and ideals. It necessitates a strong determination to maintain them at all costs.

Let us think deeply about these few points. They are brief and not all-inclusive, but they will serve as a stimulus to introspection. Let us ask ourselves if we are loyal in every relation of life. If we are, let us maintain that loyalty. If we are not, let us develop it.

SCHOOL GETS STATE APPROPRIATIONS

Our library has received an appropriation of $5,000 from the State Board for books. Already 1,458 volumes have been purchased. The State Board has also transferred to Bowie from the General Education Board fund, $153.00 to be used for additional library equipment.

A $25,000 appropriation will be used for remodeling the old dining room for a gymnasium and for repairs to the water system.

MR. RIDLEY LEAVES TO SERVE WITH RED CROSS

By Novene Holt

Mr. Peter S. Ridley, psychology instructor, left on October 26 to serve with the Red Cross, probably on foreign soil.

Mr. and Mrs. Ridley and Peter, Jr., were honored guests at a special dinner on October 27. President Henry presented to him a gift from the faculty. Darrine Johnson, Senior; Helen Evans, Junior; Helen Gilmore, Sophomore, and Francis Gates, Freshman, all wished him "bon voyage." Responding, Mr. Ridley emphasized the vital work of the Red Cross and the new opportunities the organization is offering Negroes for service.

Mr. Ridley, who is a second lieutenant, has demonstrated his deep interest in Red Cross work during his year's stay here. Altogether he has given instruction to more than 300 persons in First Aid. This number includes students, faculty, and workers. Many have received both the standard and advanced training.

REV. HERBERT KING IS VISITOR

The Rev. Herbert King, Associate Secretary of the Y. W. C. A., Student Division, was our guest on October 17-18. Rev. King met groups to discuss "Y" plans and thrilled the entire school with an address on the work of the Student Christian Movement.

 PRESIDENT
 Mr. William E. Hemy

Published bi-monthly by the students of the Maryland State Teachers College of Bowie, Md., to create and develop school spirit, loyalty and school patriotism; to foster leadership, initiative, cooperation, and business responsibility; to inform students, parents, patrons and friends of what the school stands for and what it accomplishes; and to create increased interest in all the activities of the school, educational, athletic, and social.

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

Many schools in our country have been severely criticised in the past because they have fostered a number of activities that help to make introverts of the students. Admitting that mistakes of this type have been all too frequently made in the past, schools can now make amends.

Consciously or unconsciously schools are now organizing activities that promise to develop students who will no longer be classed as introverts but extroverts. Many schools of today have launched various activities in connection with the defense program. Both young men and young women have pledged their services and their hearty support in the interest of America's all out war effort. The sailor, soldier, marine and airman now are their chief interest. These young people are beginning to realize that they have undertaken a big job and that their zealotness in carrying it to completion will affect the lives of an endless number of individuals over the world.

The U. S. O., the Canteen Centers and Service Men's Lounges and other organizations in which students today are urged to actively participate provide an opportunity for development that is not to be treated lightly. The Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. are becoming real service organizations. Special activities are planned to make life just a little brighter for those youths who have pledged their all for the defense of their country. By their very nature the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. demand that interest be centered in others. During this critical period there is an even greater opportunity to widen the services of both of these organizations.

When this conflict is over, each of us will be so weighted down with the new problems confronting society, that "self" will be but dimly presented. Millions of sufferers will be looking to us for help. It will be a world in which the introverts will be given but little recognition; the extroverts, or those who find joy and satisfaction in other people and outside activities, will be welcomed with outstretched arms. Let us avail ourselves of every opportunity that will help equip us for real service now and in a post war world.

REVEREND HERBERT KING GRANTS INTERVIEW

by Novene Holt and
Henrietta Johnson

October 14. The fall season at Maryland State was brightened by a visit of the Rev. Mr. Herbert King, associate secretary in the National Office of Student Division of the Y.M.C.A. Because of his wealth of experience at home and abroad, Mr. King was able to make all those within sound of his voice more aware of their responsibilities as American citizens.

When questioned as to his views on the Indian problems, Mr. King may be quoted as saying:

"I am wholeheartedly in accord with the Indian policies and their fight for freedom. Being a member of an oppressed group, I naturally feel keenly about equality. Yes, the Indians should be free; first, because all people ought to be free; second, in order for the Allies to be victorious, there must be complete cooperation; and third—no real progress has been made in India since she has been subjected to British jurisdiction, therefore, why remain under their leadership?"

In addition to discussing the Indian problem, Mr. King gave his views on the Negro problem in our own country. When asked if he believed this to be the opportune moment for Negroes to strike for complete freedom, he replied:

"The blind cannot lead the blind. We would be loyal to democracy if we fight for American ideals abroad and disregard them at home. We must fight the enemies of the ideals of this country, many of whom are found in our own back yards. For example, Representative Rankin of Mississippi is just as great a "Hitler" as the great Gestapo himself. We must not forget that in obtaining freedom and equality for the world at large, we must secure it for ourselves as well."

LET'S BECOME VOCABULARY CONSCIOUS

Very often we hear the expression, "I know what I want to say, but I can't say it." It is quite obvious that the speaker is suffering from a paucity of words. The only cure for the ailment is a greater stock of words. There is no one best way to acquire a worthwhile vocabulary, but there are ways that might be recommended as helpful.

If one wishes to improve his vocabulary, he should refrain from the use of slang. Slang destroys that elegance which is so desirable in one's speech. There are those who do not classify all slang as taboo, since certain expressions, apt and clever, are accepted by the best society. Slang which is coarse or profane shows a lack of social breeding and should be barred from one's vocabulary if he is genuinely interested in refining his speech.

Keep a small notebook handy for use when attending lectures or when listening to them over the radio. From these sources one can collect any number of choice words and well-selected expressions which he would do well to add to his vocabulary. Simply placing the word or expression in the notebook, however, is not the solution to the problem. All words and expressions must be used over and over again after one becomes thoroughly familiar with their meanings.

If one has a real interest in acquiring a well-bred vocabulary and works religiously to attain his goal, great will be his reward.

IMPROVED SERVICES WELCOMED

By Ernest Black

Returning students found several changes about the campus to their liking.

The new observation post, where our students serve 24 hours each day, was built late in June by Everett Pettigrew and Ed Leakins, both '42 grads. Mr. Graham, our new chemist and agriculturist, has installed an electric light there which is greatly appreciated by all who are engaged in that branch of civilian defense.

One of the busiest spots on the grounds is our renovated, well-stocked commissary. One can select from a variety of articles what he needs. The store is managed by Nellie Ashby and Mack Simpson under the supervision of Miss Davis.

The handling of the mail is greatly facilitated by the improved post office, located in the administration building. Mr. Pitts is in charge.

NEWS OF ALUMNI AND FORMER STUDENTS

By Renee James

Several June '42 graduates are teaching in Maryland.

Here are those we know of:

Bessie Jones, Edlina; Elaine Jefferson, Cheyneyville; William Gray, Ridgely (Pr. Geo.); Lucy Satchell, North Quantico; Corinne Smythe, Dames Quarter; Regina Butler, Butlertown; Elizabeth Somerville and Gordon Bennett, Cambridge; Alice Pitchford, Bladensburg.

Mary Privott, Ellicott City; Mary Tyler, Prince Frederick; Victoria Jenkins, Annapolis; Everett Pettigrew, Friendship; Anna Staten, Pocomoke; Hemmerda Gwynn, Balto. Co.; Ulysses Smith, Cheltenham; Bertha Jackson, Muirkirk; Bella Boddy, Port Deposit; Lillian Jones, Highland Park.

The following '42 graduates are employed in the Civil Service:

Richard Brown, Vivian Hallman, Lillian Snowden, Mary Davis, Iona Smith, Edna Griffith, Victoria Marshall, Edward Leakins, and Saunders Hill. Leakins and Hill, who started work on July 7, began as junior laborers, advanced to truck helpers, then to senior laborers, and now Leakins is a shipping clerk while Hill is a receiving clerk.

Atherine Middleton, May Queen for 1942, who is teaching at Glen Arden School, became Mrs. Gardie Brown during the summer. Mr. Brown, '37, formerly head demonstration teacher here, is teaching in Charles County.

Francis Sewell is employed in a defense plant at Solomon Island. William Wilson is working at a defense plant in Elkton.

Edna Griffith, a civil service employee, recently became Mrs. Woody Barnes.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Boddy, '32 (Cordelia Boyer '40) and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hayward '35 (Auline Bennett '39) have been visited by the stork which left each couple a daughter.

Josephine Showell, '39, is now Mrs. Clark, and Constance Hill, '40, is Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Clark is working for Uncle Sam in Washington.

Effie Liggans Scott, '39, is teaching in Baltimore City; Hortense Brooks, '39, is a teacher at Turner's Station, and Julia Hill, '41, is teaching at Catonsville.

Mildred Adams, '40, is at Chapel Hill, and Marie Hawkins, '36, formerly demonstration teacher here, is principal of Croome School. Mrs. Josephia Randall Morselle, '28, also former demonstration teacher, is teaching at Magothy.

William Bishop, '41, and Laura Brooks, former students, are now

LET'S PEEP IN ON THE FACULTY

By Vivian Hicks

President Henry spent most of his summer months at the University of Pennsylvania. He predicts that Maryland State will become more fully aware of the National emergency, placing stress on conservation.

Irvin Henry visited relatives on the Easter Shore. Vivian, and Julia spent the summer vacationing with their maternal grandmother, Mrs. Henry kept the home fires burning most of the time. She was cheered by a visit from Mrs. Holley, her mother, and journeyed to Wilmington, Delaware for a brief stay.

Miss Jeanette Chase, with whom The College Eye—TWO most of us have transacted business, took time out to motor to New York City.

New York University was the destination of Miss C. Bronte Robinson, Miss Josephine Brown, and Mr. J. Alexander Wiseman. Mr. Wiseman is all agog over his excursion through Rockefeller Center and the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Right on time to greet the young ladies upon their arrival was the familiar figure of our Social Director, Miss B. O. Hill. The summer of '42 found her taking an advanced first aid course and spending much time at the State Teachers College in Bluefield, West Virginia.

Quite a few added attractions may be found in our commissary these days including our Personnel Director, Miss Elnora D. Davis. She spent part of the summer at Columbia University.

Lt. Charles H. Hunter, our former chemistry instructor, who is stationed at Fort Huachuca, Arizona, spent many hours of his leave here on our campus. Even though he is now a vital part of the armed forces of our nation, he still maintains his place in the hearts of the students and faculty of this college, evidence of which was shown by the warm welcome which he received.

Miss Ruth Gibbeon, who filled Lt. Hunter's position as chemistry instructor during the latter part of the past school term, has been greatly in demand. Of her eight offers for positions, two of which were teaching positions, two principalships and two defense positions, she accepted a teaching position in Ashland, Virginia. The fact that she has many friends in that state helped her to make such a decision.

Mr. Benjamin F. Graham, a newcomer to our faculty, is chemistry instructor and farm manager. He comes to us from Garnett High School, Chestertown, Maryland where he was vocational agricultural teacher, school band leader, director of boy's glee club and biology teacher from 1935-1939. He feels that Maryland State is very efficient in equipping the prospective teacher to take his place in any section of rural Maryland to which he is sent.

Mrs. Townes, the dietitian and instructor of homemaking as well as the sponsor of the Handicraft Club received her B.S. degree at Cheyney Teachers College, Pennsylvania and her M.S. at Teacher's College, Columbia University. She was former instructor of "Foods and Nutrition" at Spellman College of Atlanta University in Georgia. Mrs. Townes feels that our college is small enough so that all may live as one big, happy family.

Mr. William Stanford, who spent his summer in the city of Baltimore is back with us. We again have Mr. Peter S. Ridley who engaged in quite a few interesting and fascinating studies outside of the classroom.

During the summer one could have found Mrs. Mary W. Law, our librarian, at her home doing much canning and preserving for defense as well as concerning herself with the task of preparing her son for college. Miss Edna Prout, also librarian, stayed close to home during her vacation due to the tire and gas shortage. This was quite beneficiary to our campus, for in her spare time, she gave much attention to the flowers which adorn the campus in front of our dormitory. At the opening of the school term, she was right on hand to begin cheering up her campus friends.

Mr. Noel, who teaches the fourth through the seventh grades, graduated from Maryland State in '37 at which time he was editor-in-chief of the college paper, then "The Normal Eye". His sentiments concerning his alma mater were expressed as, "There is no place like home".

Mrs. Hildegard Adams, an honor graduate of Maryland State in '32 and of Hampton in '42 has taught in Charles County for ten years. Here she teaches from the first through the third grade and is of the opinion that this college may eventually become an institution for girls.

Mrs. Marie White Thomas graduated from Douglass High School, Baltimore, Maryland in '21 and from Maryland State in '32. She is now working on her B.S. degree at Morgan. She teaches the first through the seventh grades. She feels that this is a very delightful place in which to live.

Miss Sarah Jones, the Supervisor of elementary schools in Anne Arundel County is also supervisor of our Demonstration School. She may be quoted as saying that "this insti-

AT SUNDAY VESPERS

By John Butler

Sept. 20—Mr. W. L. Hansberry, anthropologist of Howard University, gave a scholarly illustrated lecture on Africa.

Sept. 27—A group of students, directed by Mr. Wiseman, conducted a symposium on the subject, "After Tomorrow, What? After the War, What?" The purpose was to see, through the prophetic scriptures, the answer to human conflict—war.

Oct. 4—Miss Brown sponsored a program on the theme, "The Power of Words." Mildred Wilson, Piccola Brooks, Novene Holt, Florence Tilghman, Flora Andrews and Johnniemae Mitchell participated.

Oct. 11—President Henry advised students to develop a constructive philosophy of life while here, in a talk on "What Is Your Philosophy?"

Oct. 18—Dr. Frank M. Snowden, teacher of classics at Howard University, urged his audience to acquaint themselves with the best books of the past. Skillfully, the speaker showed how our democratic way of life is not something new; it functioned in the days of the early Greeks and Spartans.

"In this day," said Mr. Snowden, "when the lights of freedom are temporarily out, it is your duty as college students and leaders of tomorrow to adjust yourselves to this changing world." Comparing the past with the present will enable one to meet the changes of the future, the speaker declared. Mrs. Townes, sponsor, presided.

Oct. 25—The Y. W. C. A., Mrs. Law, sponsor, presented a program dealing with the subject, "The Y. W. C. A. and the World Crisis." Dorothy Ward presided and Ann Shockly, giving the principal talk, emphasized the work of the "Y" in bringing about closer interracial relationships. She explained the toy project of our Y, which will bring cheer to unfortunate children. The group is also exchanging letters with students of other races.

Velma Ward, Lavinia Clanton, and Darrine Johnson furnished music for the occasion. Margaret Thomas read the scripture and offered prayer, while Sarah Holley gave the purpose of the program.

Following the tradition of Bowie the Freshmen have met and selected as their officers the following:

President, Francis Gates; Vice President, Doris Johnson; Secretary, Betty Bromery; Treasurer, Muriel Baker.

We hope that whole-hearted cooperation will be given these officers to make our first year here a successful one.

CHAPEL PROGRAMS AREVARIED

By Walter Harvey

As usual it is our aim to present chapel programs that are both varied and interesting.

Our first program consisted mainly of the introduction of the faculty. Both old and new members were in the group presented to the student body. President Henry presided.

On September 18, a magical program based on science was given by a few well-selected young men under the direction of Mr. Wm. Stanford, our science teacher. Wm. Frierson and Sydney Shephard posed as rival magicians. Following their experiments, another member of the group gave an interesting scientific report entitled, "One Day Cure for Syphilis."

The program on September 25 was centered around war and its causes. By means of a dramatization and specially chosen Biblical readings, we were made aware of some of the causes of conflict between and among nations. The Senior Modernaires, a musical group composed of eight young men and women, rendered the well-known patriotic selection, "This Is Worth Fighting For."

A well-planned patriotic program was offered by the children and teachers of our Demonstration School on October 2. It portrayed vividly the benefits that are to be derived if citizens will help to conserve our present supply of materials and uphold our democratic way of life. It showed, further, that this is everyone's war and that children as well as grown-ups are expected to do their bit so that our democratic principles will live forever.

Miss V. L. Monroe sponsored a unique program on October 9 pertaining to health. Dancing, musical selections and reading were given conspicuous places on the program. The activity itself was arranged in the form of a television show. Much worthwhile information pertaining to health was gained by all.

On October 16, Miss Hill, our dormitory director, was in charge of the assembly period. Her program consisted of a scholarly paper given by her, entitled, "The Principles of Conduct," and two piano selections by Miss Elnora Davis, personnel director.

The future possibilities of Africa, the so-called "Dark Continent," were realistically presented by Miss Edna Prout on October 30. Her program was informative and contributed much to our thinking about the fate of countries other than Africa, in a post-war world.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

By Celeste Whalen

On September 21, the Freya Club held its first meeting of the season with its new president, Irene Bankins, presiding. The club immediately made plans for its future membership and for the sponsoring of a Victory Ball on October 17. The club decided to do everything within its power to aid in National Defense.

The Handicraft Club did its part too. On September 24, the club sponsored an evening of general recreation and fun for everyone. There were a variety of activities such as dancing, games — bingo, monopoly and card playing of all types. Prizes were presented to the winners of each game.

The Press Club has again started on a year of successful work. They have aimed to make this one much more commendable and with its host of new members, we are sure that they can accomplish such.

The student body merrily joined the student mentors on a hike and wienie roast on Saturday, October 9. The potato salad and wienies were eagerly devoured by everyone after taking a two mile hike.

All of the clubs have elected new officers and started out to make this a more wholesome and friendly atmosphere.

SOPHOMORES ORGANIZE

The Sophomore class was organized on September 17, with Miss Elnora Davis acting as our class advisor.

The following members were elected to represent the class:

President, Helen Gilmore; Vice President, Margaret Brandon, Secretary, Hester Marshall; Treasurer, George Dawson; News Reporter, Doris Parker; Student Council Members, Rosie Dorsey, James Hill. Social Chairman, Jeanne Carter.

We miss the pleasant faces of seven of our sophomores—Hilda Jones, Alfreda Randolph, Louise Ferrell, Charlotte Jackson, Celia Nickens, Dorothy Harris and Roberta Waters. Two new members, Audrey Handy and Agnes Purnell who formerly attended Princess Anne College are continuing their studies here as sophomores. We also welcome Anna Roberts, who was late returning for the new year.

CRITICAL REVIEW

by Novene Holt and
Henrietta Johnson

"And Now Tomorrow"—By Rachel Field, author of "All This, and Heaven Too," and "Time Out of Mind." Price $2.75.

Looking back over the first twenty-five years of her life, Emily Blair realizes that there has been some queer kind of pattern behind it. Some trace remains of everything — each house or tree or postbox recalls anew. "Here he kissed me, here we met by chance, here I stumbled crying past that fence post"—yet she can never be again as she was in the past. And so Emily recalls her story—an unusual one. Here Rachel Field combines that nostalgia for the past, which lends new meaning to the present, with as beautiful prose and as heart warming a love story as she has ever written.

This book is written in such a simple, easy style that the reader has little difficulty in understanding the sequence of incidents in the story. On the other hand, the story is unravelled so lengthily that one may easily lose interest before he has finished reading it. Not enough description was used to secure and hold the reader's interest. There was no great originality in plot, although her smooth style and characterization make it an absorbing story.

In reading "And Now Tomorrow" and comparing it with her earlier novel "All This, And Heaven Too," one cannot help but feel that the quality of her work has decreased slightly.

JUNIOR JOTTINGS

By Aberdeen Bennett

The Junior Class is proud to boast of its forty-two healthy minded members. Of these we have chosen the following for our officers: President, Helen Evans; Vice President, Novene Holt; Secretary, Margaret Thomas; Treasurer, Elizabeth Brown; Social Chairman, Henrietta Johnson, News Reporter, Aberdeen Bennett; Student Council Representatives, John White and Lavinia Clanton.

With such leaders the Junior Class is sure to accomplish much this school year. (We hope).

BOWIE BREVITIES

Elizabeth Brown, a Junior, was enrolled June 15, in the National Emergency Volunteer Blood Donor Service of the Baltimore Chapter, American Red Cross.

Applying her knowledge of artificial respiration received in her First Aid Course, Murteen McGowan, a Senior, assisted a life guard at Annapolis Beach in July, enabling a man to live for three days.

MR. WISEMAN ELECTED OFFICER IN MARYLAND EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

By Novene Holt

Mr. Joseph A. Wiseman was elected vice president of the Maryland Education Association at the annual meeting on October 23 at Morgan State College. Mr. Wiseman was also chairman of the panel "The Colored School and the Conservation Program."

Other faculty members who attended the meeting were Misses Robinson, Davis, Monroe, Chase, Brown, and Jones; Mesdames Townes, Adams, Thomas and Law; Messers, Graham, Stanford and Noel.

MISS PROUT IN ACCIDENT

Miss Prout was painfully injured and her car smashed beyond recognition on the Bladensburg Road on October 10. She is now back on the job.

Miss Virginia Lee Turner, a graduate of A. and T. College, at Greensboro, N. C., is a new addition to our administrative staff. Most of her summer was spent in school. Her impression of our campus? "It's beautiful—just a little lonesome."

Miss Virginia Lee Monroe, the physical education instructor, is a Hampton graduate. During the summer, she took graduate work at Penn State. Miss Monroe is especially interested in dancing. Her impression of our college was expressed thus: "This is a very nice school, yes, very nice."

FRESHMEN EXHIBIT TALENT

By Alveta Smith

It has been a custom at State to hold a "Freshman Talent Night" early in each year. The present Freshman group held forth in the recreation room on September 11 presenting vocal solos, readings, and instrumental selections. Members participating were Betty Bromery, Elizabeth Greene, Eleanor Hall, Doris Johnson, Leatrice Miles, Olivia Moore, Alveta Smith, Olivia Tucker, Eva Stuckey, Vernetta Waters, and Mildred Wilson reading her original poems. Hilda Wright was mistress of ceremonies.

FRESHMEN CONDUCT SUNDAY SERVICES

As all other classes have been participating in Sunday morning exercises so have the Freshmen. On October 4, the class selected as its theme "Youth and Religion". Poems and papers were presented. Olivia Tucker sang a solo; Leatrice Miles and Olivia Moore rendered a duet. In the midst of the program, a period of meditation for our brothers, fathers and friends in service was observed.

Thus the Freshmen cooperated with the Sunday School Department in sponsoring a program which was most beneficial to us and, we hope, worth remembering.

FRESHMEN GIVE THEIR IMPRESSIONS OF BOWIE

By Margaret Thomas

Here is what some Freshmen think about Bowie:

Thelma Thomas—It's a great inspiration.

Muriel Baker—It's a nice place; very quiet except for the trains.

Myrtle Smith—Beautiful!

Doris Johnson—I like it down here.

Alveta Smith—At least I have not been homesick.

Eleanor Hall—Social life is interesting.

Sarah Brooks—It's fine!

Olivia Moore — Anything good refers to Bowie.

Eva Stucky—It's all right now, since I've been home.

FOUR ARE STRICKEN

Three members of the Bowie family have been stricken with appendicitis since the opening of school: Miss Esther C. Brown, assistant to chef; Hilda Wright, Freshman, and James Robinson, Junior. All are recovering satisfactorily from their operations.

As we go to press, Martha Thomas, Senior, is leaving with a painful sore throat.

SPORTS

by Thomas Miles

State Teachers College's sport world came to life September 21 under the supervision of Miss Monroe, our new physical education instructor, who comes to us from Greenwood High School, Princess Anne, Md. Miss Monroe is a graduate of Hampton Institute and we are sure that she is well qualified to accomplish something with our teams this year. We began playing softball within our respective classes acquiring as much skill as possible so as to be ready to compete in the coming softball tournament.

Classes clashed and teams battled in a desperate attempt to become winners of the softball tournament with Miss Monroe, assisted by the senior young men Mack, McClain, Ross, and Shephard rendering the decisions. The Sophomore Giants and the Freshman Eagles broke the ice playing the first game on September 21. The Giants managed to clip the wings of the Eagles with a score of 14 to 1.

In the second game on September 22, the Sophomore Little Hercules stepped out on the diamond and and crushed the Freshman Yankees by defeating them 11 to 1. On September 23, the Junior Homesteaders were victorious over the Sophomore Cardinals caging them with a score of 14 to 4. The Junior Homesteaders strove valiantly to defend their stakes from the onslaught of the Seniors on September 24, but had to give ground, losing the game 16 to 4.

On September 25, the Sophomore Little Hercules had to forfeit the game to the Sophomore Giants to play against the Seniors for the championship.

NO SOCCER THIS YEAR

Unfortunately we will have no intercollegiate soccer team this year, and I say unfortunately in the light of the fine showing our team made last year; however we shall not find ourselves without soccer on the campus. Already Miss Monroe has been instructing in soccer within her classes, and there is a great probability of an inter-mural soccer tournament.

What will be the outcome of the coming basketball season is yet to be seen. It looks as though it will be left to the young men to represent the school since there will be no ladies' team, but they will not be entirely out because Miss Monroe will be supervising the men's team. It is most likely the team will be traveling by train this season due to war conditions which we are all able to understand.

V. H. (Soph.) doesn't have a snow if M. W. (Jr.) really means business with G. D. (Soph.)

Don't let H. G. (Soph.) fool you! She is calm at heart when C. W. (Jr.) is around.

The campus fast guy has finally settled down to a one track romance. Your answer is N. A. and J. W. (Jrs.)

The other night Ebenezer went Bingo; his prize was none other than M. S. (Fr.)

"Life is swell when you eat well," said S. S. (Sr.) when having received a package from F. D. (Soph.)
