

EDUCATORS PAUSE BETWEEN SESSIONS

Mr. Paul Huffington, supervisor of Negro Schools in Maryland; Dr. William E. Henry, Bowie president; and Dr. Daniel A. Prescott, director of Child Study Conferences at Bowie in October, January and April.

Originator Of Negro History Speaks

The appearance of Dr. Carter G. Woodson, the originator of Negro History Week, as guest speaker on February 15, made our observance particularly rewarding.

Choosing as his subject, "The Emancipator, Emancipation, and the Emancipated," Dr. Woodson paid tribute to Lincoln and our African ancestors. He declared that "History says the African is the father of civilization. In the industrial arts, Africans have shown conclusively that they were once the greatest metal workers of the world. They were the first to smelt iron. In both fine and industrial arts they excelled the Europeans."

Dr. Woodson believes that slavery is a state of war. He said that even though the Negro has been freed from physical slavery, he fears there are still too many of us in mental bondage. "As long as Negroes oppose each other, hate each other, and steal from each other, we will never be free. We must learn to cooperate," he declared.

His forceful closing challenge was, "You must bring yourself together and get a new vision, see works of Lincoln and others as a framework, and try to execute actions to make dreams come true. Thence forward and forever free!"

Recreation Program Held Here

From February 25 through March 1, the National Recreation Association, in cooperation with the Maryland State Teachers College at Bowie and the Maryland State Department of Education conducted a Recreation Leadership Training Institute.

Mrs. Ruth G. Ehlers was the instructor of this course which dealt with the purposes and problems of a recreation program. These trends were outlined: (1) freedom of choice, (2) cooperation rather than competition, (3) creative and cultural acts, and (4) rhythmic expression through folk games.

Objectives set up were: (1) to live together better, (2) to provide wholesome recreation for children, (3) to obtain better health conditions, (4) to promote safety, and (5) to build better character.

Mrs. Ehlers emphasized the significance of a pleasing personality in securing a job and holding onto it. Participation in such types of activities as those engaged in at the

Edward Brigham In Recital

The Social Committee at State presented for our entertainment, Mr. Edward Brigham, of New York City, in a song and dramatic recital April 5. Mr. Brigham proved himself an artist of rare power, possessing a splendid bass voice—big, deep and full of fire and passion.

He began his program by singing Stevenson's "Vesper Hymn". Best liked musical selections were: "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes," "Consider the Lilies," "My Little Mohee," "Alone Upon the Housetops," and "Beautiful Isle." Top readings were: "The Forgotten Man," "All the World's a Stage," "The Ballad of the Oysterman," Rudyard Kipling's "Boots," "The Selfish Giant," "The Man Who Had Nothing to Give," "The Blue Snake and the Black Snake," Act 1, Scene 7, Soliloquy from Shakespeare's "Macbeth", and "God of the Stars".

The large number of autograph seekers attested to the enjoyment of Mr. Brigham's performance. Following the concert, the artist was guest at a reception in Foyer "B" of Tubman Hall.

Summer Workshop Begins June 17

Maryland State Teachers College will hold its second annual Summer Workshop June 17 - July 1, as a follow-up of the one held last Summer.

The main objective of this workshop is curriculum instruction. Members attending will be chosen from various counties by their respective county superintendents. Consultants will be secured from the State Board of Education and various institutions.

Testimonial Given Dr. and Mrs. Henry

To observe the fourth year of Dr. Henry's presidency at "State", the senior class tendered him and Mrs. Henry a testimonial on April 12, under the designation "Maryland State Looks Ahead".

After - dinner speeches included "Who Is Our President," by Doris Johnson; "The Progress of Our School," by Thelma Thomas and Alveta Smith; testimonials by Romaine Ennis and Vernetta Waters, representing the students; and alumni testimonials from Mrs. Julia Hill Medley, '41, and Mr. William Gray, '42. Mr. Doswell Brooks, supervisor of Prince George's County Schools, was guest speaker.

Geneva Smith made presentations to the honorees. Mrs. Henry received a basket of snapdragons, and Dr. Henry an Eversharp pen and pencil set.

Miss Charlotte Hunter, our neighbor, announced her creation of a trust fund, the interest from which will be used as a yearly presentation to the male student who shows the greatest progress.

Some eighty visitors attended the affair.

Senior Class Officiates At County Meets

For the first time since the outbreak of World War II, the counties of Maryland are staging their Annual Field and Track Meets. Due to lack of transportation facilities and equipment, these meets were abandoned, but are once again resuming their places in the physical education programs of the various counties.

Heretofore, it has been the privilege of the students of this institution to officiate at these meets. This year the responsibility is delegated to members of the senior class.

The dates for the contests are: Anne Arundel County, May 11; St. Mary's County, May 18; and Prince George's County, May 25.

The members of the senior class feel that this opportunity will enable them to better execute their recreational duties in the communities of which they will soon become a part.

Child Study Conference Convenes, April 5th

The third and last stage of the Child Study Conference for the year 1945-46 met here April 5, under the leadership of Dr. Prescott, University of Chicago professor.

The purpose, as outlined by Dr. Prescott, was to discover particular recurring patterns of behavior in individual case studies. This step is accomplished by interpreting the recurring patterns in terms of the adjustment problems of the child and his developmental tasks.

The next meeting of the Child Study Conference will be held in October. The plan for the year 1946-47 will involve doing many of the same things that were done in 1945-46. The study groups may continue, and many of the leaders will start other groups.

Our World Tomorrow, A Challenge

By AGNES E. PURNELL, '46

Today we stand on the threshold of a new tomorrow. We are leaving these hallowed halls and the friends with whom we've spent many happy days studying and pondering over perplexing problems.

Ours have been unusual days—days darkened by the horrors of a world catastrophe. Ours will be the task to hold and preserve the civilization for which our men have so gallantly fought and died. From these intrepid fighters we have learned many lessons of perseverance, fortitude and bravery. Science has advanced beyond our imagination. We must make rapid strides in education to fit ourselves and the generations to come to meet the challenge of this new scientific world. The military organizations have set the pace. They have shown us that time for training can be cut by one half or more. Many colleges and universities have experienced the training of men along technical lines using the military courses of study. Men were trained in medicine, dentistry, electricity and many other fields in half the time ordinarily used.

We who are leaving you now, believe that tomorrow, we shall become participants in a great educational revolution that will call for more study, a greater sensitiveness to the needs of the children we teach, and a stronger determination to do our share in building a better social order.

A fool beholdeth only the beginning of his works, but a wise man taketh heed to the end.

Today's College Girl

By DR. HAROLD TAYLOR

(Taken from Pageant Magazine.)

Out of the war has come a new figure on the American Campus—mature, earnest, informed, and with a mind of her own. . . . During the past six years, new events have impressed themselves on our society. Relations between worker and employer, husband and wife, economics and politics, government and industry have altered permanently. Similarly, the character of the college woman has altered. With the departure of the college men, and their slow return, college women found themselves dominating our campus. . . . In short, the college woman of this generation is more adult, more mature, more serious and more conscious of the role she can play in the life of her country than ever before.

Before the war, critics of American youth deplored the frivolity, softness and lack of discipline in our college boys and girls. Many today repeat this misconception and demand more discipline, regulation and severity in dealing with students. But American college men and women have met the challenge of war with a will and an intelligence which mark them as adults. The woman of today needs friendly guidance and advice from educators who, realizing that the younger generation has already grown up, will discuss on terms of equality the problem of youth as a problem for everybody.

Beautiful Virginia

(An excerpt from a description written by Miss Prout, librarian, who motored to Roanoke, Virginia, to be present at the marriage of Miss Laura T. Mason, secretary to Dr. Henry, to Mr. Ray Andre Booten on April 20.)

. . . Nature usually plans her wonders; for the approach to the summit of a mountain is by means of foot hills which elevate one, slowly preparing one, for one's plunge into the stratosphere; for it would be rather difficult to achieve the plunge at one fell swoop.

Virginia is certainly a naturalist's paradise. There are so many beauties and wonders of nature to behold, fertile valleys, sluggish rivers, rapid mountain streams and high mountains along with innumerable caves, the Natural Bridge, and beautiful flora and fauna.

Press Club Members, 1945-46

Veterans Return

The second semester brought with it many former students who had served our country in World War II.

Having served in every active theater, these vets are eager to continue their education.

From the European, African and Middle East Theaters came George Arnold, John McLain, John Butler, Mack Simpson, Francis Gates and Ralph Malone. Cedric Hynson returned from China, Burma, and India Theater. Charles Williams served in the South Pacific. Leon Taylor dropped his Navy "Blues" to return to State.

With remarkable ease our "Vets" have adjusted themselves to school routine and are progressing with their work. Their presence was felt during basketball season when Williams, McLain, and Malone bolstered Coach Fisher's fighting "Bulls". McLain was the ideal running mate for the squad's diminutive captain, "Dick" Dawson. Williams gave us some much needed height while Malone's experience aided in keeping the attack rolling.

The "Vets" slogan has changed from "On to Tokyo" to "On to Better Schools."

Sophs Lose Two To Army

George Harper and Littleton Harriday, Sophomores, were called into the Army this semester. Before they left, the class feted them at a party in the recreation room. Marie McGrath and Blanche Robinson read original poems about their stay at Maryland State.

Surprise birthday parties have been given for Essie Molock, Irene Butler, Ruth Conway, Bessie Sherkliff, and Evelyn Roberts.

Delegates Attend Conference

"State" was represented by Mrs. M. W. Law, Thelma Thomas, Hazel Johnson, and Priscilla Smith at the twentieth annual Spring Conference of the Eastern States Association of Professional Schools for Teachers, which convened at the Hotel Commodore in New York City, March 14-15.

There were approximately 750 persons attending this conference, rendering possible a great diversification of ideas in the various panel discussions. Some of the significant discussions were: "Student Government Problems," "Extra-Curricular Activities," "Understanding the Russian People," and "Improving Race Relationships in the United States." Thelma Thomas was a member of the panel on "Extra-Curricular Activities".

Among the highlights was the luncheon address, "Education Crosses Barriers," by Dr. George N. Shuster, president of Hunter College and member of the United Nations Conference.

History was made when Dr. Ruth A. Haas, Dean, Danbury State Teachers College in Connecticut, became the first woman president and Dr. Leslie P. Hill of Cheyney Teachers College was elected vice-president.

"Wedding Spells" Is Senior Class Play

"Wedding Spells", a farce in three acts by James F. Stone, was chosen as the class play of '46.

The leading character, played by John McLain, is "Steve", an explorer, who is suffering from amnesia, the result of a plane accident in South America. After returning to the United States, he marries one of the four girls in his life, but for the life of him, he can't remember which one.

The incidents attendant to his locating his long lost, humiliated wife are in turn comic, baffling, and full of suspense.

Other members of the cast are Alice Jones, Ralph Malone, Alveta Smith, Olivia Moore, Doris Johnson, Irving Hamilton, Eva Stuckey, Myrtle Smith, Agnes Purnell, Leon Taylor, and Emmaline Watts.

Library Corner

By L. DOLORES GHENT

Have you visited the stack-room in the library lately? If not, you have missed something. New volumes totaling 1,171 have been added this year and others are coming in daily.

We have 18 of the books mentioned in the Saturday Review's "Annual Pulitzer Prize Poll" of the nation's book reviewers, according to "The Saturday of Literature" for April 27. In fiction, among those mentioned, we have "Cass Timberlane," "The White Tower," "A Lion Is in the Streets," "The Gauntlet," "Black Boy," "Daisy Kenyon," and "Stuart Little."

In biography we have "The Young Jefferson," "Tom Paine," "Black Boy," "The Age of Jackson," "A. Woolcott," "Soldier of Democracy," and "Lincoln the President."

In history: "The Age of Jackson," "Men Against Pain," and "Black Metropolis." In poetry: "Beach Red" and "Bolts of Melody."

As a hint to the young men: The young ladies are interested in the security of a home; you might be interested in getting a start, so "How to Start Your Own Business" (Kay), is in the library waiting to be used. To the young ladies: Our returned vets are very upset about getting a wife who can't cook; you'd better study "Settlement Cook Book" (Kander); it's excellent. Go to the library and get what's new!

Senior Portraits In A Lighter Mood

How well do you know the members of the class of '46? How about a "coup d'oeil"? Let's take a peep at them to see what they do.

Agnes "Dizzy" Purnell delights in all kinds of art work and in sewing. She is constantly heard saying, "Don't be a Jack". She is also known as "Agtag".

Eleanor "Ditty" Hall, who spends most of her time pursuing sports, lets "Run mad" run through her conversation.

Amy "Denny" Tull, the third "D", has taken up photography as her latest hobby. She says, "Don't be ridiculous."

The fourth "D" is "Daffy", Alveta Smith. She finds time every night to write a letter—maybe two. She is heard saying, "Now don't you worry". Some call her "Vete".

Another "D"—Dotty, Doris Johnson, likes to take pictures in her spare time. She always says, "All right, now".

Olivia Moore says, "I know it's a prayer and you know it, too." "Livia" enjoys all types of sports.

Anna Mae "Queenie B" Queen says, "You know it, too." Her leisure time is spent at the piano.

Whenever you hear singing on the hall, you know its Olivia "Deedie" Tucker. She always says, "Oh! It's wonderful!"

Myrtle Smith, known as "Myrt", likes to draw in her spare time. When she says, "So help me," you are forced to believe her.

Ella Awkard is always saying, "Well, sir." Reading and photography are her favorite pastimes.

Candidates for B.S. Degrees, June 1st

Vernetta "Net" Waters likes to sew. "Net" says, "Ain't that cute?"

Bettyjane Bromery, who is called "BJ" for short, often says "For Pete's sake." Her free hours are spent reading and playing the piano.

Lois Hull's favorite saying is "Now look." She enjoys reading and driving.

Leatrice "Lea" Miles revels in all sports. She always says "Oh Bro--other."

"Champ" Emmaline Watts can be heard saying, "I'm sick of you." Enjoys dancing.

Thelma Thomas, or T.T. as her friends call her, can always find time to read. She says "Ur-rah."

Eva Stucky (Little One) impresses every one with "Do you mind?" She finds pleasure in reading.

"Geedy" Geneva Smith also takes a fancy to reading. She prefers "good" literature. Her favorite saying is "Hi Ya, Beautiful".

Romaine "Pinky" Ennis says, "I don't care." She can always be found reading "True Stories."

Elaine "E" Spry enjoys reading good literature too. "E" always says, "That's what you think."

Alice Jones (Jonesy) says "Ain't that something?" Reading is her favorite pastime.

Sara Brooks or "Brooksy" is another reader. Her favorite saying is, "You skip around too much".

"Skibo" John McLain spends most of his time either playing the saxophone or engaged in some type of active sport. His saying, "You had better try to pick up what I'm putting down."

Irving "Duck" Hamilton calls everyone "Hon", regardless. He never tires of teasing.

George "Bird" Diggs is usually seen on the golf links. When Diggs says "My friend," you know he means it.

Mildred Gray, known as "Mil", says "Absolutely". She can be seen horseback riding during her leisure.

William "Bill" Hall never tires of basket-ball or any other sport. "I don't have a favorite saying," says "Bill".

Geraldine Goldsborough, called "Jerry" by some and "Goldie" by others, is often heard saying "I ain't mad". "Goldie" is fond of all kinds of sports.

Learline Carson spends her free time sewing. Her friends call her "Learly".

Activity Day

The Demonstration School pupils are holding an "Activity Day" on May 27, under the direction of Mr. Fisher and Miss Robinson of the College department: Misses Matthews, Jackson, and Welles, Demonstration School teachers; Mr. Hynson, Misses Mack, Gregg, and E. Pritchett, junior practice teachers.

They will present a pageant, "Spring Magic," dances, and participate in various field activities.

Everyone is invited to attend. The program begins at 9 A. M., and ends at 4 P. M.

National Negro Health Week Observed At Bowie

Visiting Doctors, Nurses Help During Health Week

We are grateful to the following nurses and doctors who helped to make our Health Week a success:

Dr. Aris T. Allen, practising physician at Annapolis; Dr. John Byers, Prince George's County; Dr. George P. Brown and Dr. George Blackman of Freedman's Hospital, Washington, D. C.

Miss Ruth Covenery, nurse technician; Mrs. Lillian Robertson, patch testing; Mrs. Clarice Patterson, who assisted the doctor and administered immunization serums; Mrs. Elsie O'Neill, who assisted the doctor, and Miss Ruth Tigle, who supervised the nurse arrangements and was the clerk for patch reading, all of Prince George's County.

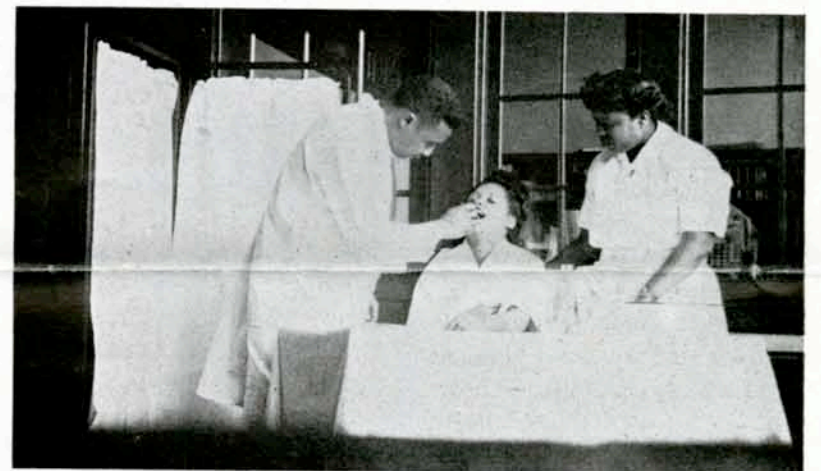

The 32d annual observance of National Negro Health Week was held April 7-14. The special objective for the year is "A Healthy Home in a Healthy Community."

With the general theme in mind, we worked with the viewpoint that the family makes the home, the home serves the community, and the community builds the nation.

Charity begins at home. Our campaign began with "Campus Clean-up Day," when the entire physical plant was put in a spotless condition.

On Tuesday, April 9, Mr. Dwight W. Fisher, instructor in physical education, delivered a discourse on dental hygiene.

Wednesday, April 10, was clinic day, with a general physical check up of fresh-

Dr. Blackman; Louise Nutter, freshman; and Miss Perry, school nurse, on Clinic Day

Farewell To The Seniors

By SYLVIA WRIGHT

Dear Seniors,

The faculty, student body and others of our institution join in bidding you farewell.

On June 1, when you receive your degrees, you will leave equipped to take your places in Maryland as teachers. Out of this world of strife you have emerged potential leaders and polished citizens, ready to meet the challenge of peace. It is now your task to step in and carry on the job of guiding and preparing the younger generation to meet the changing demands of society. We feel that you are capable of meeting the challenge.

We whom you leave here at State, sincerely wish that the impressions you create in the communities where you serve will stand as goals which all of us will strive to attain. We shall always remember you for your fine spirit of cooperation and for your willman and selected upper classmen. Wednesday night we had a movie and lecture conducted by Dr. Byers, Prince Georges County Health Officer.

Thursday, April 11, was "Social Hygiene Day." Dr. A. T. Allen of Annapolis gave a most informative lecture and showed a movie on social diseases. The same afternoon the Demonstration School presented a play and discussion depicting good health habits.

Friday, April 12, a children's clinic was held for the Demonstration School and Bowie Elementary School.

Sunday was report and follow-up day.

ingness and capability in handling the problems which have confronted you.

And so, dear Seniors, may the Almighty go with you and guide your foot-steps into the path of success.

Miss Harreld Charms Audience

By FLORENCE NUTTER

Miss Josephine Harreld, Atlanta (Georgia) pianist, appeared in recital February 8 in the Maryland State Teachers' College Auditorium.

She was most impressive in her romantic and modern numbers. There was a compelling performance of Chopin's "Impromptu in F Sharp, Opus 36," and she played Debussy's "Images" with brilliant understanding.

Had there been doubts of Miss Harreld's ability, they were all disposed of when she began Bach's three "Chorales".

Her program was of unusual quality. That fact, together with the artist's poise and charm, made our evening one of musical enchantment.

Junior Jottings

We are grateful that we have young men in our class once again. John Butler, Charles Williams, and Cedric Hynson are former Bowieites who have recently been discharged from the service of Uncle Sam.

Privates William Moore and King Anderson, and Seaman Clarence Dennis, former classmates, have visited us recently.

We have begun our student teaching and have had many interesting experiences with our demonstration school children.

Some Juniors were walking down the hall when one instructor said to another, "See our new faculty?" The other instructor replied, "My how they have changed." Still another asked, "Where do you find stockings?"

The student teachers were launching a project dealing with the diet of rats. Unfortunately, both rats died during the Easter holidays. One rat was to be given a wholesome, nourishing diet; the other given a poor, inadequate one. The aim of the project was to teach the value of vitamins to living organisms.

Bowie Bulls, 1946—Coach Fisher, Williams, McClain, Dawson, Malone and Thomas

Basketball

The basketball season saw State, under the guidance of Mr. Fisher, develop two creditable varsity teams.

They played games with the following neighboring colleges: Princess Anne, Morgan, Howard, and Coppin. Other teams played were Bates High, Baltimore Big Five, the Ole Timers from Lakeland, and Fort Meade.

Although not victorious in all of their encounters, the Bowie Bulls made a reputable showing.

Bats Present Comedy "Strike Three"

The Bowie Arts Theatre (Bats) presented a three-act comedy entitled "Strike Three," by Robert Ray, under the direction of Miss Josephine Brown on April 17, in the college auditorium. The entire student body, faculty, and many friends were present to enjoy the pleasant play.

The leading character was Henry Dillon, a bachelor, portrayed skillfully by Richard Dawson who lived in the Dillon home with Iris March, his beautifully dressed niece, played cleverly by Elaine Spry.

Next door lived Maggie Shannon, very much in love with Henry, played by Leona Pendelton, whose performance was memorable.

Her nephew, Michael Shannon, was enacted by William Grace, a typical adolescent, who created many laughs in the audience.

Other members of the cast were Renzelo Foxwell, Priscilla Smith, Irene Butler, Helen Kane, Thelma Jones, Ruth Conway, Conservella Murphy, and Mary Richardson.

conference will aid considerably in developing acceptable personalities.

The numerous games and dances demonstrated for use in schools, clubs, parties and churches will prove invaluable to the students who attended, since we are to become leaders in rural communities.

There were close to two hundred who received certificates at the end of the course. This number included about fifteen from Anne Arundel County who joined us in the study.

Doris Johnson: They were great experiences for me because I had never been to most of the colleges.

Delores Hill: They were all swell, but the game at Princess Anne was best.

"Glenny" Williams: Inter-collegiate activities not only provide keen competition, but they also foster a favorable attitude towards sports. The experience added to my love for this institution.

Pat Malone: Basketball is like eating and sleeping to me. This year's team was like all other teams I've played on at "State"—never beaten until the final whistle. Men who can come from behind and win will be successful.

"Skibo" McClain: After my fighting for such a long time "over there," the trips and games were relaxation for me.

"Flash" Dawson: They were broadening experiences.

After the basketball season the students became enthusiastic participants in the intramural program, engaging in volley ball and soft ball tournaments.
